

INVITATION TO EXPLORE HOW CHILDREN LEARN LANGUAGE

‘Retaining Integrity of the BODY and MIND
By connecting
The WORLD and the WORD
AUTONOMOUSLY’

Exploring how interfering in this process damages the integrity of the body and mind

Living is verb; language is noun

Understanding how children learn to articulate their experience is very important as it is with language that their mind gets constructed. If there is no teaching and if children get to create meaning of the sounds they hear autonomously they are able to retain the integrity of the world and the word- that is of the body and the mind. But if language as meaning enters the mind without experiential grounding the body and mind will get fragmented. Formation of the mind, hence is the most crucial aspect that decides whether we get rooted and be nature or gets alienated from nature.
